WHOLE No. 952.

READY APRIL 28 :

When We Were Boys.

A NOVEL.

BY WILLIAM O'BRIEN, M.P.

Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 556 pages, $1.50.

* * The volume contains the following letter from Mr. O'Brien, reproduced in fac-simile.

"I desire respectfully to acquaint the American public that Messrs. Longmans, Green & Company are the only authorized publishers of this novel in America, and that editions issued by them are the only ones from which I derive any profits.

WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

"DUBLIN, April 12, 1890."

With the exception of four chapters, only, "When We Were Boys" was written by Mr. O'Brien while confined in Galway jail under the Coercion Act. It is a tale of the Ireland of a recent period, dealing with the movement of 1867 and illustrating forcibly every phase of the social as bearing upon the political condition of the country. As a story it is interesting, varied in incident, and enlivened with easy humor, while the author's individuality gives it an unusual value.

NOTES IN SEASON.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have just issued in their Rialto Series "A Strange Infatuation," by Lewis Harrison, an illustrated story founded upon the theory of hypnotism in crime, narrating absolute occurrences.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish early in June O. B. Frothingham's work on "Boston Unitarianism—a study in its life and work, 1820-1850." The volume presents a sketch of the type of Unitarianism which Mr. Frothingham's father represented, besides sketches of some of his associates, including John Pierpont, Francis Parkman, and Alexander Young.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish on the 28th inst., William O'Brien's novel, "When We Were Boys." With the exception of a few chapters only this story was written by Mr. O'Brien while confined in Galway jail under the Coercion Act. It is a story of the Ireland of a recent period, dealing with the movement of 1867 and illustrating every phase of the social, as bearing upon the political, condition of the country.

GINN & Co. have in press a work on "Political Science and Comparative Constitutional Law," by Prof. J. W. Burgess, of Columbia College. It will be in two volumes, the first of which treats of the Nation and the State as concepts of political science. The formation of the Constitution, also, is regarded and treated as a political, not a legal process. Under the head of Constitutional Law, the author describes the organization of liberty and of government. The latter topic occupies the entire second volume. The typical constitutions selected for comparison are those of France, Germany, England, and the United States.

BANGS & Co. announce the Regular Spring Parcel Sale to take place on Tuesday, May 6, and following days. The consignments are of unusual interest, including contributions from J. W. Bouton, S. C. Griggs & Co., Jones Bros. Publishing Co., Macmillan & Co., Oldach & Co., Orange Judd Co., G. P. Putnam's Sons, and Worthington Co. among the American publishers; and from John Grant, Edinburgh, Reeves & Turner and Vizetelly & Co., London. A special offer from John Grant covers 14,000 volumes of remainders of valuable and desirable books, for which the terms and particulars are stated in the catalogue now ready for mailing.

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish at once Camille Flammarion's astronomical romance, "Urania." It is described as being such a story as one might imagine that Jules Verne and Richard A. Proctor could have written had one put his imagination and the other his science into the same pot and got R. L. Stevenson to stir them up. There is just enough science to hold the attention of the student and enough plot and love-story to interest the general reader. Mrs. Mary J. Serrano, translator of "Marie Bashkirtseff," has put M. Flammarion's delightful French into charming English. A portrait of the author will be given in the volume.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish this year the writings of James Russell Lowell in a new complete and handsome large-paper edition. They will make ten volumes, classified as follows: "Literary Essays," in four volumes; "Political Essays," in one volume; "Literary and Political Addresses," in one volume; "Poems," in four volumes. They will include all of Lowell's writings that he cares to preserve. For the "Bigelow Papers" he has written full explanatory notes. Only 300 copies will be issued for America, the form being that of the large-paper edition of Longfellow. It is expected that the first volume will be ready shortly and that the ten will all have been issued early in the fall. They will also publish Dr. Holmes' "Over the Teacups" in book-form when the series is completed in the Atlantic.

The history of these three important divisions follows directly the "History of Oregon" in this series, which in turn follows the "History of the Northwest Coast." First, the whole country, including British Columbia, was treated of under the last-named title. Then, after the fur companies retired, all the vast area between the 42d and 49th parallels was called the Oregon territory. Washington was then set off from Oregon, and Idaho and Montana were part of Washington, until finally Idaho was set off from Washington, and Montana from Idaho. So that this volume may properly be considered part of the three volumes that have preceded it. List of authorities consulted and full index.

A visit of a few months made to Florida in search of health, was the occasion of the writing of this book. The journey down and the surroundings of St. Augustine furnish several chapters, but the bulk of the book is taken up with a discussion of the negro question. Mr. Field writes from what he saw, and writes dispassionately, presenting both sides with equal fairness. There are chapters also on the battle of Franklin, the Hermitage—the home and burial-place of Andrew Jackson, Stonewall Jackson and the valley campaign, and the last days of General Lee.

Contents: The history of golf, by Andrew Lang; General remarks on the game, by Lord Wellwood; Out of form—a chapter for adepts, by Sir Walter Simpson; Some celebrated golfers, by H. S. C. Everard; The humors of golf, by A. J. Balfour. The remaining chapters are by H. G. Hutchinson; they are On clubs and balls; Elementary instruction; On style—various styles; Hints to cricketers who are taking up golf; On nerve and training; Hints on match and medal play; Etiquette and behavior; On giving odds and handicapping; Some celebrated links, etc.

Jepheth Ibu Ali, the Karaite. Anecdota Oxoniensia; a commentary on the Book of Daniel; ed. and tr. by D. S. Margoliouth. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 13+87 p. 4°, cl., $5.25.

Jerome, Jerome K. Stage-land; curious habits and customs of its inhabitants; il., by J. Bernard Partridge. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1890. 5-158 p. il. D. cl., $1.

The same quaint, fresh humor that characterized "Three men in a boat," is found here. The writer's subjects are the hero, the villain, the heroine, the comic man, the adventuress, the comic lovers, the peasants, and other characters of the modern drama. Their unreality and unintentional comicality are admirably and most amusingly described. The pictures are as clever as the text, and as humorous.

This volume completes the series of expository discourses following the line of International lessons for this year. The writer never designed it to be an exhaustive presentation of the Gospel of Luke. These chapters do not pretend to be a commentary or a biography; they are only a compilation of studies of specific passages, none of which were chosen by himself.

Contemporary French memoirs and correspondence have been largely drawn upon for the material of this volume. Piquant anecdotes, gossip accounts of the life and manners of the period, pen portraits of famous personages, and vivid descriptions of historical events form the background to Josephine's daily life—which is the central motive.

This work, which was originally published in 1763, treats of the operation of the divine love and the divine wisdom in the creation of the universe, including man as the chief end of creation. It explains the trinal distinction that exists in all created things from the trinity in God, and shows how this trinity is manifested in men and angels, who are images of the Divine. It also explains the origin of evil uses, and the origin, design, and tendency of good uses.

The versatile author of "The Marquis of Peñalta" and "Maximina" in this charming story contrasts the widely different characters of northern and southern Spain. The hero, who narrates his experience with much humor, is a native of Galicia, and a poet. The heroine is a nun, who, owing to unpleasant family relations, has taken temporal vows. She is quite unsuited to the religious vocation—is jealous, passionate, and quick-witted, and also exceedingly pretty. The hero and heroine meet at a watering-place on the Guadalquivir. The love-making begins at once, but is interrupted by a rival. The story to the end is full of interest and possesses some delightful scenes from life in Seville, etc. Opens with an excellent paper on the modern novel and realism.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 26, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE NEW SCHOOL-BOOK COMBINATION.

WE print elsewhere an account of the organization of the American Book Company—that is, the coalition of the school-book publishing firms of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., D. Appleton & Co., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., and A. S. Barnes & Co., which has long been contemplated—so far as its organization is completed. At the present writing nothing further can be stated than is given in our report. The main object of the new corporation is stated to be to do away with undue and costly competition. As every one in the book trade is aware, while improvement in production has advanced with giant strides, the expenses of doing business, through the competition and strife for trade, have been threatening to increase beyond all proportion. The remedy for this state of affairs has engaged the serious attention of the leading houses for years, until now the way out of the difficulty to four of these firms seems to be in the centralization of their property under one ownership and management.

By doing away with ruinous competition, by simplifying its machinery and enhancing its power to purchase its material in bulk at the lowest possible prices, it is claimed that the new concern can afford to put its books into the market at even lower prices, and be able to serve the public more efficiently in every direction than was possible under the old order. At any rate, there is no reason to believe that the American Book Company will forfeit in any way the confidence reposed in the several firms comprising it for nearly half a century.

As to the danger of this corporation monopolizing the school-book business, we have had occasion to point out again and again that such a thing as a monopoly in the book business would be impossible. The danger is not in this direction. Any house, or any new publisher, can make a new book, and it is certain that with progress in education new and better books will be made. The combination includes the four leading firms of the school-book trade, doing probably more than half the business; there are between one and two hundred other concerns in the trade, some of them of large individual importance. The enormous aggregation of capital and of business in the combination gives it an enormous advantage over competitors in the cost of doing business, and the other houses will be put on their mettle to hold their own. If the new concern seeks to "run them out" by the ways common to "trusts," it will be bad all around; if it stimulates the other concerns to a competition of quality in a fair field, it will do good. The policy of the new company as it develops will decide whether the combination is for or against the interest of the public, the schools, and the trade.

A GREAT lament has gone up here and there in the public press since the realization of the Lovell combination, and many a Sir Toby is standing about querulously asking, "Shall there be no more cakes and ale, now that these rapacious publishers have become virtuous?" and others ask whether they are to be "held down by the mob rule of unrestricted book trusts"! The combination does not yet "own the world," nor is it likely that it ever will. While it has undoubtedly control of the plates of many sets and lines of books, there are still in the field as competitors such doughty fighters as The American News Co., Porter & Coates, Rand, McNally & Co., J. S. Ogilvie, T. B. Peterson & Bros., G. W. Dillingham, Street & Smith, Robert Bonner's Sons, and Ivers & Co., who are all more or less engaged in the publication of "cheap" books. Besides these there is the bulk of the publishing business, which as yet has taken no hand in the movement, except in so far as it has affected the regulation of discounts, but which also must more or less come into competition with the Lovell Company. The state of affairs, so far as the public is concerned, will therefore remain as before, except that in consideration of a slight advance in some lines of books it will receive a better-made article. So far as the trade is concerned, we hope the regulation of discounts will work definite good. Beyond that, let the "best man win."

THE AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY.

THE one topic of conversation in the book trade at present is the formation of The American Book Company—a combination of the four school-book publishing firms of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., D. Appleton & Co., and A. S. Barnes & Co. The corporation expects to be on a working basis in about three weeks, and until then the trade must rest content with the few general facts given below concerning its organization, etc.

The American Book Company is a stock corporation formed under corporate law, and will own absolutely all of the school-book plants belonging to the different firms mentioned above, including stock on hand, book plates, copyright, and good-will. The probable exception to this joint ownership will perhaps be the stationery supplies of one or two of the houses, notably the pen-business of Ivison, Blakeman & Co. It is not fully decided, however, that the individual imprints of the houses will be given up. The precise amount of capital stock to be issued has not been definitely determined, but cannot fall far short of $5,000,000. The officers of the company are Birdseye Blakeman, President; Gen. A. C. Barnes, Vice-President; Harry T. Ambrose, Treasurer; and Gilman H. Tucker (who has been Secretary of the School-Book Publishers' Association for a number of years), Secretary. The Board of Directors includes Messrs. William H. Appleton, W. W. Appleton, and Col. Daniel Appleton, of D. Appleton & Co.; Gen. A. C. Barnes, Henry B. Barnes, and Charles J. Barnes, of A. S. Barnes & Co.; Birdseye Blakeman, David B. Ivison, and George R. Cathcart, of Ivison, Blakeman & Co.; and C. S. Bragg, A. H. Hinkle, and Henry H. Vail, of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co.

The corporation has hired the new building at 806 and 808 Broadway, just above Grace Church, running through to the store under the offices of the Cassell Publishing Company on Fourth Avenue. Ivison Blakeman & Co. are already preparing to move into the new quarters, and later the other houses will no doubt concentrate their forces there also.

What the general policy of the business is to be in connection with the trade, whether there will be any changes in the method of prices and discounts, we have not as yet been able to learn. Some time must necessarily elapse before so huge a business can be fully organized in all its details, and until it is we presume the books heretofore published by the four houses comprising the new corporation will be handled on the old basis.

In reference to the various newspaper reports stigmatizing The American Book Company as a "trust" and a "monopoly," Mr. Cathcart, of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., reiterates what was said in the first public announcement of the movement, given in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, March 15. "As business men, fully aware of the odium which attaches to the name of 'trust' or 'monopoly' in the public estimation," he further said, "we could not afford to do anything that would justify the application of the term to our organization. To do so would be suicidal, and, of course, we are not proposing to do anything suicidal."

To a reporter of the Evening Post Mr. Cathcart said: "The proposed combination will be the result of difficulties and perplexities which have been felt in this department of the business for the last five or six years, and which the publishers have vainly endeavored to remove. School-books have come to be sold exclusively through agents who travel over the country from one school district to another. The great expense of these middlemen and the exceedingly low cost and small profit of school-books threaten to make the business unprofitable. There is no other kind of books of the same mechanical quality so cheaply sold as school-books. And the quality is of a very high order, and is constantly improving. The best paper and the strongest binding are provided; in many cases the type is expressly made according to the directions of eminent oculists, the illustrations are obtained from the leading artists and put on the block by the best-known wood-engravers, and the printing is done in the most careful manner and by the most improved methods. Modern school-books are therefore really artistic—luxurious, as compared with those of former days—and of course it costs a great deal of money to get them out; yet they are sold at positively low prices.

"The natural remedy for the growing unprofitableness of the business appeared to be a union of firms, whereby management might be concentrated in one centre and the expenses attending several managements be saved. It is evident that a material lessening of expenses can be effected in this way. A much smaller number of people will be required at one headquarters than at several; and the army of agents can at least be cut down to a single corps.

"Among the results which we expect would follow from the execution of our enterprise is the still further lowering of the price of school-books. We think that, on this new plan, the profits from the business would be sufficient to enable us to effect this reduction."

In reply to the question whether it is true that the new corporation has obtained options on the Indiana School-Book Company's books and on those of other houses, also whether they are backed or expect aid from English capital, Mr. Cathcart said that they do not hold a single option, and that the statement relating to foreign capital is absolutely without foundation.

As to the prediction that this combination would result in the States providing the books used in their public schools, Mr. Cathcart thinks that "the States would listen to better counsel, or if they attempted to supply themselves, that they would speedily repent it. The State of California has been trying it since 1883, with disastrous results. Up to February, 1887, the Legislature had appropriated $367,500, and the State is still unprovided with geographies, which are the most expensive to manufacture of all school-books—the cost of a modern geography plant to a publisher being not less than $100,000. The State also still lacks supplementary books, such as dictionaries, etc. The report of the Public Printer for 1886 showed that he had expended $57,917.39 to put the printing-office in shape to commence the work of printing school-books. The entire State does not use as many school-books as the city of Brooklyn, but its expenditure of now nearly half a million dollars would supply Brooklyn with books for ten years. The city of Philadelphia, with a population greater than that of the State of California, appropriates only about $90,000 per annum for supplies of all kinds for the public schools, which includes stationery, blank-books, etc., the largest items."

In commenting on the misrepresentations, con-jectures, and prophecies made in relation to the corporation Mr. Cathcart said: "There is no subject upon which there has been so much exaggeration as this. I am sure that it will be considerably over the mark to put the total sum paid for the supply of text-books to the public schools of the United States for last year at $7,000,000, which for 60,000,000 of people would be a little more than eleven cents each, and yet we publishers are pounced upon by a certain lot of ignorant demagogues who charge us with being the greatest robbers of our time."

A PROPHESED INVASION OF BOOKS.

We extract the following from an interesting article on "Books and the Housing of Them," by the Hon. W. E. Gladstone, in The Nineteenth Century for March:

"In the old age of his intellect (which at this point seemed to taste a little of decrepitude), Strauss declared* that the doctrine of immortality has recently lost the assistance of a passable argument, inasmuch as it has been discovered that the stars are inhabited; for where, he asks, could room now be found for such a multitude of souls? 'Again, in view of the current estimates of prospective population for this earth, some people have begun to entertain alarm for the probable condition of England (if not Great Britain) when she gets (say) the seventy millions that are allotted to her against six or eight hundred millions for the United States. We have heard in some systems of the pressure of population upon food; but the idea of any pressure from any quarter upon space is hardly yet familiar. Still, I suppose that many a reader must have been struck with the naïve simplicity of the hyperbole of St. John,† perhaps a solitary unit of its kind in the New Testament: 'the which if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written.'

"A book, even Audubon (I believe the biggest known), is smaller than a man; but, in relation to space, I entertain more proximate apprehension of pressure upon available space from the book population than from the numbers of mankind. We ought to recollect, with more of a realized conception than we commonly attain to, that a book, ay, that every book, consists, like man from whom it draws its lineage, of a body and a soul. They are not always proportionate to each other. Nay, even the different members of the book-body do not sing, but clash, when bindings of a profuse costliness are imposed, as too often happens in the case of Bibles and books of devotion, upon letterpress which is respectable journeyman's work and nothing more. The men of the Renaissance had a truer sense of adaptation; the age of jewelled bindings was also the age of illumination and of the beautiful miniatura, which at an earlier stage meant side- or margin-art,‡ and then, on account of the small portraits included in it, gradually slid into the modern sense of miniature. There is a caution which we ought to carry with us more and more as we get in view of the coming period of open book trade, and of demand practically boundless. Noble works ought not to be printed in mean and worthless forms, and cheapness ought to be limited by an instinctive sense and law of fitness. The binding of a book is the dress with which it walks out into the world. The paper, type, and ink are the body, in which its soul is domiciled. And these three, soul, body, and habiliment, are a triad which ought to be adjusted to one another by the laws of harmony and good sense.

"Already the increase of books is passing into geometrical progression. And this is not a little remarkable when we bear in mind that in Great Britain, of which I speak, while there is a vast supply of cheap works, what are termed 'new publications' issue from the press, for the most part, at prices fabulously high, so that the class of real purchasers has been extirpated, leaving behind as buyers only a few individuals who might almost be counted on the fingers, while the effective circulation depends upon middle-men through the engine of circulating libraries. These are not so much owners as distributors of books, and they mitigate the difficulty of dearth by subdividing the cost, and then selling such copies as are still in decent condition at a large reduction. It is this state of things, due, in my opinion, principally to the present form of the law of copyright, which perhaps may have helped to make way for the satirical (and sometimes untrue) remark that in times of distress or pressure men make their first economies on their charities, and their second on their books.

"The annual arrivals at the Bodleian Library are, I believe, some twenty thousand; at the British Museum, forty thousand, sheets of all kinds included. Supposing three-fourths of these to be volumes, of one size or another, and to require on the average an inch of shelf space, the result will be, that in every two years nearly a mile of new shelving will be required to meet the wants of a single library. But, whatever may be the present rate of growth, it is small in comparison with what it is likely to become. The key of the question lies in the hands of the United Kingdom and the United States jointly. In this matter there rests upon these two Powers no small responsibility. They, with their vast range of inhabited territory, and their unity of tongue, are masters of the world, which will have to do as they do. When the Britains and America are fused into one book-market; when it is recognized that letters, which as to their material and their aim are a high-soaring profession, as to their mere remuneration are a trade; when artificial fetters are relaxed, and printers, publishers, and authors obtain the reward which well-regulated commerce would afford them, then let floors beware lest they crack, and walls lest they bulge and burst, from the weight of books they will have to carry and to confine.

THE BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association of the United States was held on Wednesday evening, April 16, 1890. The following were unanimously elected to membership: A Dwight Stratton, Samuel Valentine, and George E. Bemir, of New York City; James H. Hammill, of Onondaga, Mich.; and Charles W. Cook, Holyoke, Mass.

The resolutions, printed in our last issue, were then passed, commending the faithful work of the retiring Secretary, Mr. Andrew Geyer, who recently resigned after six years of service. Mr. Geyer carries with him the good wishes and thanks of every member of the Association for the untiring and efficient work done in behalf of the Association. Through his efforts very largely the Association has nearly doubled its membership, while the details of his office were attended to with despatch, discretion, and consideration seldom met with in other societies of a similar kind.

* In Der alte und der neue Glaube.

‡ First of all it seems to have referred to the red capital letters placed at the head of chapters or other divisions of works.

Mr. Wilbur B. Ketcham, 13 Cooper Union, N. Y., succeeds Mr. Geyer as Secretary. It is to be hoped that the members will remember that the Secretary's services are rendered gratuitously, and that, in view of the considerable work attached to the office, they ought to do all they can to make his work as light as possible. This they can do by remitting promptly, by advising him of removals, and by attending to all notices without waiting for reminders. The Association is now in a most prosperous condition, and can be kept so if every man in it will do his share of work.

A proposed amendment to the constitution which will be voted on at the annual meeting in June was also submitted. The amendment gives more definitely the time and manner of the payment of assessments.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE COPYRIGHT BILL.

THE friends of the Copyright bill ought to be assured that the calling up of the measure Monday, April 21, was an error, and that the bill has suffered no prejudice in consequence of Mr. Symond's action. It was suspension day, but the order had not been plainly announced, and the bill was called up under the impression that the House was doing business under the morning hour order. When the Patents Committee can bring the bill up in morning hours it will be called, and, after discussion, which may be finished in a day or in two days, the bill will come to a vote. It is probable that it will be helped through by the votes of the advocates of cheap rates of postage for serial publications, who have waked up to the fact that the two measures are in some way inclined to pass or fail together.

PHYSICIANS IN FAVOR OF INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

THE feeling of the medical profession regarding international copyright is illustrated in the following letter from Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, of Philadelphia, to Mr. Johnson:

"Perhaps few persons, certainly none in the medical profession of this country, could show a record which would better prove the need on our part of a copyright than I. I once pointed out to a member of Congress, in my library, a copy of one of my books translated into French, two translations of the same in German, one in Russian, and another work of mine translated into French. For none of these had I ever received a cent. It is true that two of these translations were authorized by me when my consent was asked, but, of course, it would not have been given without some financial return to me if the law had been otherwise than it is, since any one could at will take the book and translate it without the slightest reference to the wishes of the author. A great many American medical books have been translated into the European languages with or without the assent of the authors, but I have never heard that for any of these did our authors ever receive a penny. My own case is, I fancy, the strongest, and I have no objection to your printing this statement, if it will further the purposes of the League."

GEORGE TICKNOR CURTIS ON INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

THE following letter has been received by Mr. R. U. Johnson, Secretary of the American Copyright League, from George Ticknor Curtis, advocating the pending International Copyright bill:

"It seems to me, as an American author and a citizen of the United States, in common with many other American authors and citizens, that our wishes ought to receive careful attention at the hands of Congress. It is no longer possible to deny the justice and expediency of an international copyright law such as is proposed in the pending bill. While it will benefit foreign and especially English authors, to American authors it is certain to operate as a measure that will secure to them fruits of their labors which they are entitled to enjoy. I have myself failed to receive revenue from publications that ought to have yielded me revenue in England as well as in this country, publications of which English publishers have availed themselves without making me the slightest remuneration. This wrong can be corrected by Congress for American authors in regard to future publications, without the slightest disadvantage to readers, publishers, bookmakers, or printers, by passing the pending bill.

"I may not have personal influence with those who are to decide this great measure of right and justice, but I feel that I have reason to do everything I can in its favor."

GEORGE W. CHILDS' RECOLLECTIONS.

A BOOK which will interest the book trade fully as much as their patrons is the handsome little volume of "Recollections" by George W. Childs, just issued by the J. B. Lippincott Co. It is made up of the series of papers published last summer in Lippincott's Magazine, to which has been added an appendix in which are described several of Mr. Childs' public gifts—the memorial fountain at Stratford-on-Avon; the memorial windows to Herbert, Cowper, and Milton; the Andrews and Ken reredos, etc. A preface to the volume is furnished by Mr. Melville Phillips, and an introductory note to the appended matter by Mr. L. Clarke Davis. Doubtless the parts of greatest interest to the publishing fraternity are those of his own reminiscences which describe Mr. Childs' success in life, beginning with his employment in a bookstore in Philadelphia, his attending the book-auctions in the evenings, his visit to the book trade sales in New York City, finally his going into business for himself at the age of eighteen, and at twenty-one beginning to publish books, in the firm of R. E. Peterson & Co., afterwards Childs & Peterson. Their first great book was Dr. Kane's "Arctic Explorations," and they paid the Doctor a copyright of nearly $70,000 within a year. In 1863 Mr. Childs retired from book publishing, and in December, 1864, he purchased the Ledger. It was then losing (because sold for a cent, in that day of high-priced paper) $3000 a week—say $150,000 a year; and "I bought it," says Mr. Childs, "for a sum slightly in excess of the amount of its annual loss." It was, beyond doubt, the best purchase of newspaper property ever made in Philadelphia—perhaps in any city—and it stamped the purchaser's business judgment as wonderfully clear and sound. We understand that the advance orders for the book are such as to warrant an early printing of a second edition.

LARGER LABELS WANTED ON FOREIGN MAIL.

THE Postmaster-General has requested Postmaster Van Cott to call the attention of New York publishers to a recent complaint made by the German postal authorities. This complaint states that the labels placed on papers mailed in the United States are small and undecipherable, and that they are undeliverable in many cases. The German office suggests that the labels be made of larger size.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, Sarah C. Woolsey (Susan Coolidge), and Katharine Prescott Wormeley will spend the summer in Europe.

DR L. BÜCHNER, the author of "Kraft und Stoff," will shortly issue a new work, entitled "Fremdes und Eigenes aus dem Leben der Gegenwart." The book will treat of Spinoza, Diderot, Schopenhauer, etc., and of several great problems of our time, including the utopian "Völkerfrieden." In an appendix the author will describe a visit to Darwin.

A MRS. MARY J. HOLMES, of Ansonia, Ct., has written a novel, and a New York publisher contemplates putting it upon the market, but hesitates to put the author's name on the cover because it is the same as that of a well-known authoress. Mrs. Holmes is now holding consultation with different lawyers to discover whether she has or has not the right to use her name on the cover of her novel.

KOSSUTH has nearly ready for publication three additional volumes of his memoirs. They are said to contain, among other things, his remarks upon the policy of Napoleon III. toward the Vienna Court, and upon the endeavors of the Pope to retain his secular power, in addition to an interesting interview between Prince Bismarck and the French Ambassador, Comte de Saint Vallier. At the close of his preface Kossuth states that the Hungarian Deputy, M. Ignaz Helfy, has revised the work, as he himself was painfully conscious of the fact that during his forty-one years of exile he had not kept up with the advance of the Hungarian tongue.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Republican Magazine is the title of a new monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the "defenders of the Union." All the organizations of veterans of the war, and sons of veterans, including the Grand Army of the Potomac, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Woman's Relief Corps, and other associations, carrying upon their rosters 1,170,000 members, have representation in its pages.

The Better Day is the title of a new periodical, the organ of the "Better Day Reading Circles." It is a journal of temperance education, to extend among all reading and thinking people the work begun by the course of scientific temperance instruction in the public schools; not in the interest of any religious sect, nor of any political party, but to guide all readers in the careful and candid study of the history, science, and literature of the temperance reform. It will be published every two weeks by Funk & Wagnalls.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. DAVID GORDON, manager for Walter Scott, publisher, of London, has just reached New York, where he will be for a week or two. Communications addressed to the care of Messrs. Scribner & Welford will find him.

MR. ARTHUR H. SCRIBNER has returned from Cairo, where he went to see Stanley and make arrangements for his new book, "In Darkest Africa, and the Quest, Rescue, and Retreat of Emin, Governor of Equatoria." Nearly all the manuscript has been received here.

MR. JOSEPH ABNER HARPER, one of the oldest members of the firm of Harper & Bros., and who has for years attended to the general business of the firm, has retired from active business life. He is succeeded by his son, Mr. John Harper, who has been connected with the house nearly eighteen years, and who is familiar with its business interests in every detail. The firm, which has entered upon its seventy-fifth year, now consists of Messrs. Philip J. A. Harper, Fletcher Harper, Joseph W. Harper, John W. Harper, J. Henry Harper, and John Harper.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Adolph Picard has bought the book and stationery business of E. T. F. Maher.

BRYAN, TEX.—McCormick & Haswell, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

FORD, IA.—We learn with regret that J. R. Taylor, bookseller, is dead.

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—Iddings & Graham, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

GRAYVILLE, ILL.—J. A. Shelton has succeeded to the book and stationery business of T. J. Matthews.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—We are pleased to hear that the Bowen-Merrill Company has recovered sufficiently from the effects of their disastrous fire to resume business. E. Hardy, of Roberts Brothers, and O. Brewer, of Scribner & Welford, were the first to sell them goods since the fire.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Frank Dolfinger, executor of the estate of Henry Knoefel, bookseller, advertises the business for sale.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Gill Engraving Co. has removed to 39 and 41 Park Place, formerly the Graphic Building. The O. Judd Co. will remove to 52 Lafayette Place on May 1. The Critic, at the same time, will also move into the same building.

PORTLAND, ORE.—J. L. Thompson, formerly "buyer" for S. A. Maxwell, has formed a co-partnership with Mr. Stewart, of the late firm of Skeen & Stewart, of Chicago, and they have opened a general book and stationery business in this city.

RIVERSIDE, CAL.—Drake & Cundiff, booksellers, Cal., have dissolved partnership.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.—Parsons & Derge, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The Bancroft Company has had an injunction put upon it by the Bancroft-

Whitney Company to restrain it from publishing law-books. To this there is quite a history attached. H. H. Bancroft is the holder of one-quarter of the shares in the Bancroft-Whitney Company, but he has been entirely closed out from sharing the profits of that corporation through a combination on the part of the other holders of the stock. They, having the majority, elected themselves officers at high and fancy salaries, the payment of which has used up all the profits. The Bancroft Company, of which H. H. Bancroft is President, has therefore resolved to publish law-books of its own accord, and its right to do so will be contested in court at an early date. Mr. Dorland, the Treasurer, states that by the original contract only the plates and good-will of the law publications were turned over to the Bancroft-Whitney Company, and as the Bancroft Company has lost by this time complete track of all the old customers and accounts, and proposes to start an entirely new set of publications, its position is unassailable.—California Correspondent of the American Stationer.

SHERMAN, TEX.—Donaldson & Hopson, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

TACOMA, WASH.—Charles Herald, bookseller, has gone out of business.

WILLIMANTIC, CONN.—Chas. R. Utley, dealer in books, stationery, and wall-papers, has moved from the store so long occupied by him at 115 Main Street to the new and much more commodious building at 112 Main Street, where he has nearly twice as much room as at the old stand.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A BOOK by the late Ella Haggard, the mother of the novelist, will soon appear in London under the title of "Life and its Author, an Essay in Verse." Mr. Rider Haggard will contribute to the volume a memoir of his mother.

FUNK & WAGNALLS announce elsewhere that they propose to print the volumes issued in their Standard Library in lots of 100,000, which they will supply to the trade on advance orders at a low price. They also announce that "additions will be made rapidly to this list of the standard books of the world."

LEA BROTHERS & Co., Philadelphia, have in press a volume of essays by Mr. Henry C. Lea, entitled "Chapters from the Religious History of Spain." They are upon subjects connected with the Spanish Inquisition, and merit a more elaborate treatment than could be accorded them in the continuous narrative of the Inquisition which Mr. Lea has in preparation.

At the last meeting of the trustees of the Stationers' Board of Trade the following named houses were elected to membership: Holyoke Card and Paper Company, Springfield, Mass.; A. G. Spalding & Brothers, Butler & Keely, and Cole & Williams, New York. The committee on rooms reported in favor of remaining in the present quarters, and it was so decided.

THE London Bookseller has published an interesting supplement containing an account of the Booksellers' Trade Dinner, held under the auspices of the Booksellers' Provident Institution, March 8 of this year. Besides a report of the exercises are given the portraits of eighty-five of the leading publishers, booksellers, and authors present. The frontispiece is a portrait of Mr. John Murray, President of the Booksellers' Provident Institution.

THE ORNDALE PRESS, No. 7 Beekman St., N. Y., has been incorporated under the laws of New York State as a publishing house, and is now purchasing copyrights preparatory to the publication of a series of first-class American novels, issuing in this series one story a week. Stories are accepted upon their merits regardless of the literary prominence of the authors. The copyrights are bought outright, and paid for upon acceptance of manuscript. George L. Kilmer is the Secretary of the company.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish a series of small volumes of selections from the leading philosophers from Descartes down, prepared under the direction of Dr. E. H. Sneath, lecturer on the History of Philosophy at Yale. The volumes will be so arranged as to present an outline of their systems, each volume containing a biographical sketch of the author, a statement of the historical position of the system, and a bibliography. Those so far arranged for are Descartes, by Prof. Ladd, of Yale; Spinoza, by Prof. Fullerton, of the University of Pennsylvania; Locke, by Prof. Russell, of Williams; Berkeley, by ex-President Porter, of Yale; Hume, by Dr. Sneath, of Yale; and Hegel, by Prof. Royce, of Harvard. Kant, Comte, and Spencer will certainly be added to the series, and others, if encouragement is received.

"WHY the Solid South? or, Reconstruction and its results," is the title of a book now in preparation. It is written by fourteen representative public men of the South, most of them members of Congress, and each speaking for the State with whose history he is most familiar and of whose history he is a part. In order to avoid even the appearance of a campaign document, the various writers have, it is said, been urged by Representative Herbert, of Alabama, who is the general editor, to "take special pains to verify every important piece of testimony, and to bear in mind the power of understatement." Virginia is represented in this book by Mr. Robert Stiles, West Virginia by Mr. O. S. Long and Representative Wilson, North Carolina by Senator Vance, South Carolina by Representative Hemphill, Georgia by Representative Turner, Florida by Senator Pasco, Alabama by Representative Herbert, Mississippi by ex-Representative Barksdale, Louisiana by Mr. B. J. Sage, author of "The Republic of Republics," Tennessee by Mr. Ira P. Jones, Arkansas by Mr. W. M. Fishback, Texas by Representative Stewart, and Missouri by Senator Vest.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day in a little volume entitled "Robert Browning Personalialia," a reprint of the notable article on Mr. Browning, by Mr. Edmund Gosse, which appeared in the Century magazine a few years ago, with a paper contributed by Mr. Gosse to the New Review after Browning's death. Mr. Gosse has also written for the volume a preface and an epilogue, and has added a poem by Mr. Browning not yet printed in his works. The book contains interesting information respecting Browning's earlier career. They have also just ready "Liberal Living upon Narrow Means," by Christine Terhune Herrick, largely made up of recipes clearly expressed and tested by careful trial, and many suggestions and hints which will be found of great practical value to young housekeepers and to those who wish to make the most of moderate resources. "The Church's Certain Faith," being the Baldwin Lectures read at the University of Michigan, by Dr. George Zabriskie Gray, who sets forth clearly and forcibly those views concerning Christ and the Bible which are held by the best thinkers in Evangelical churches; also, a new edition of "Matthew Calbraith Perry, a typical American naval officer," by Dr. William Elliot Griffis.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will soon issue an inexpensive series to be called the Makers of America, which will include the lives of discoverers, colonizers, statesmen, men of war, men of letters, theologians, and inventors—men who, in their respective walks of life, "have been of sufficient force to stamp their impress on their times and to help shape the affairs of the continent." The biographies, prepared under the advisory editorship of Hamilton W. Mabie, of the Christian Union, are to average about 200 twelvemo pages; and while exact as to facts, each volume will be made thoroughly readable. Publication will be begun in the autumn, and the biographies will follow one another in rapid succession. The co-operation of distinguished writers and historical scholars has been enlisted, and the following are the subjects of volumes that have been arranged for thus far: "Christopher Columbus," by President Charles Kendall Adams, of Cornell; "John Winthrop," by the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell; "Robert Morris," by Prof. William G. Sumner, of Yale; "James Edward Oglethorpe," by Henry J. Bruce; "John Hughes, D.D.," by Henry A. Brann, D.D.; "Robert Fulton," by Prof. R. H. Thurston, of Cornell; "Francis Higginson," by Thos. Wentworth Higginson; "Peter Stuyvesant," by Bayard Tuckerman; "Thomas Hooker," by George L. Walker, D.D.; "Charles Sumner," by Anna L. Daves; "Thomas Jefferson," by James Schouler; "William White," by the Rev. Julius H. Ward, with an introduction by Bishop Potter; "Jean Baptiste Lemoine, Sieur de Bienville," by Grace King; "Alexander Hamilton," by Prof. Wm. G. Sumner; "Father Juniper Serra," by John Gilmary Shea, LL.D.; "Cotton Mather," by Prof. Barrett Wendell, of Harvard; "Robert Cavalier, Sieur de La Salle," by Edward G. Mason, President of the Historical Society of Chicago; "Thomas Nelson," by Thomas Nelson Page; and "George and Cecilius Calvert, Barons Baltimore of Baltimore."

NEW BOOKS.

THE NATURE AND METHOD OF REVELATION.

By Prof. GEORGE P. FISHER, D.D. 12mo, $1.25.

Prof. Fisher sets forth the relation of the Scriptures to the historical process of Divine Revelation, explaining the groundwork of historical reality which forms the basis of the Scriptures, and dealing also with important topics in New Testament criticism. A few of the subjects are, "The Gradualness of Revelation," "Revelation and Faith," "The Authorship and Date of the Gospels," "The Theological Ideas of Matthew Arnold," and "Huxley's Comments on the Gospels."

The Philosophy of Preaching

By A. J. F. BEHREND, D.D. 12mo, $1.00.

Dr. Behrends' book consists of eight lectures delivered at Yale University last February. The volume aims to expound the spirit, rather than the mechanism, of all effective pulpit discourse, and to set forth the qualities, personal, ethical, Biblical, spiritual, and practical, which give preaching its power and influence.

The Broughton House.

By BLISS PERRY. 12mo, $1.25.

In this story Mr. Perry has presented an artistic and extraordinarily vivid picture of a New England town in summer, with close, shrewd, sympathetic, and wonderfully observant studies of its typical personages—the quartette of persons at the hotel, "The Broughton House," with whom the story is chiefly occupied, and the villagers.

LITTLE SAINT ELIZABETH,

AND OTHER STORIES. By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT. With 12 new full-page drawings by Reginald B. Birch. Handsomely bound, uniform in size with "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Square 8vo, $1.50.

"Delightful juvenile fiction, as full of charm for the older people as for the youngest. Mrs. Burnett is always peculiarly felicitous in her portrayal of child character, and in this volume her gifts in that direction are developed in their influence."—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

"Beautiful stories in Mrs. Burnett's best vein, and all of them beautifully illustrated."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

The Lawton Girl.

By HAROLD FREDERIC. 12mo, cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

"A highly realistic and instructive study of life in a modern American manufacturing town. It is a discerning and impressive book that will enhance Mr. Frederic's fame as a writer of sound and serviceable fiction."—Boston Beacon.

The Wife of the First Consul.

Translated from the French of IMBERT DE SAINT-AMAND. By THOMAS SERGEANT PERRY. With portrait. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"A charming and valuable book. It gives a gossiping and entertaining picture of life at the French capital in what the author regards as Napoleon's best days. It is a social sketch and deals with the hidden springs of action."—Brooklyn Times.

Expiation.

By OCTAVE THANET. Illustrated by A. B. Frost. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"A masterly sketch of life in Arkansas during the war of the rebellion, when the rural population were plundered in turn by Confederate or Union troops, and by bands of marauders. The interest never flags. It is one of the strongest stories of the season."—N. Y. Sun.

Bright Skies and Dark Shadows.

By Rev. HENRY M. FIELD, D.D. 8vo, $1.50.

"Whatever he puts his hand to Dr. Field is sure to render interesting, and this volume of observation, descriptions, and reflections, based upon a trip to and through the South to Florida, is characterized by his best literary qualities.

Charles Scribner's Sons, 743-745 Broadway, New York.

TO THE BOOK TRADE.

HEROES OF THE NATIONS.

NOW READY. VOLUME I.

NELSON, AND THE NAVAL SUPREMACY OF ENGLAND. By W. CLARK

RUSSELL, author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor," etc. With the collaboration of Wm. H. Jaques, late U. S. N. A series of biographical studies of the lives and work of certain representative historical characters, about whom have gathered the great traditions of the nations to which they belonged, and who have been accepted as types of the several national ideals. The narratives are the work of writers who are recognized authorities on their several subjects, and, while thoroughly trustworthy as history, will present picturesque and dramatic "stories" of the men, and of the events connected with them. The series is under the editorial supervision of EVELYN ABBOTT, M.A., of Balliol College, Oxford, and the volumes will be issued by Messrs. Putnam simultaneously in New York and London. The volumes will be beautifully printed in large twelvemo, and will be fully illustrated, selling, in different styles, for $1.50, $1.75, and $3.50 per volume. A full prospectus sent upon application.

THE "NELSON" WILL SHORTLY BE FOLLOWED BY:

PERICLES, AND THE GOLDEN AGE OF ATHENS. By EVELYN ABBOTT, M.A., Fellow of Balliol College, Oxford.GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS, AND THE STRUGGLE OF PROTESTANTISM FOR EXISTENCE. By C. R. L. FLETCHER, late Fellow All Souls College, Oxford.

STORY OF THE NATIONS.

XXVIII.—THE STORY OF RUSSIA. By W. R. MORFILL, of Oriel College, Oxford. Very fully illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

This volume is particularly pertinent at the present time, when the attention of the civilized world is directed to the mighty Empire of the East and its Eastern Questions. The narrative covers the history of the development of the country from the little Grand Duchy of Muscovy, in the fifteenth century, to the present empire with its hundred million inhabitants.

XXVII.—THE STORY OF THE BARBARY CORSAIRS. By STANLEY LANE-POOLE, author of "The Story of Turkey," "The Moors in Spain," etc. With the collaboration of Lieut. J. D. Jerrold Kelley, U. S. Navy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It is scholarly, accurate, finished in style, abounding in graphic description, and is, in short, a thrillingly interesting history."—Boston Traveller.

XXVI.—THE STORY OF EARLY BRITAIN. By ALFRED J. CHURCH, author of "The Story of Carthage," etc. $1.50.

"A better volume than 'Early Britain' will scarcely be found, and when we say that about it, we mean to praise it very much indeed, for the series is a most admirable one. Prof. Church has succeeded not only in gathering an enormous amount of information into little compass, but he has also succeeded in making it read like a story-book."—Civil Service Gazette.

KNICKERBOCKER NUGGETS.

XXVIII.—THE SAYINGS OF POOR RICHARD. Being the Prefaces, Proverbs, and Poems of Benjamin Franklin, originally printed in Poor Richard's Almanacs for 1733-1758. Collected and edited by PAUL LEICESTER FORD. $1.00. [Ready May 15.]XXVII.—THE BOYHOOD AND YOUTH OF GOETHE. Comprising the first eleven books of his Autobiography, "Truth and Poetry from My Own Life." 2 vols., $2.00.

"It is well that a book so indispensable to every lover of literature should be made accessible in so delightful a form."—The Beacon, Boston.

XXVI.—THE GARDEN, as considered in literature by certain polite writers. With a critical essay by Walter Howe. With portrait of William Kent. $1.00.

"A book that will especially delight all who are fond of gardens and gardening, and who take a certain pleasure in enjoying nature when treated by man as a work of art."—Boston Home Journal.

THE POETRY OF THE ANTI-JACOBIN. Comprising the celebrated Political and Satirical Poems, Parodies, and Jeux d'Esprit of Canning, Frere, Wellesley, Ellis, Gifford, Pitt, and others. With explanatory notes, biographical and historical notices, complete list of the authors, and an index. Edited by CHARLES EDMONDS. Illustrated from the original plates by Gillray. To the poetry has been added a number of the prose selections, including the papers on American Affairs, the personal and abusive indexes, etc. Limited edition. Crown 8vo, $2.50.

MODERN HORSEMANSHIP. A New Method of Teaching Riding and Training, by Means of Pictures from Life. By EDWARD L. ANDERSON. Fourth edition, revised and enlarged, with 40 photographic plates. $5.50.

"The rules and directions are so plainly stated and are so admirably illustrated by photographs from life that an intelligent reader will have no difficulty in putting them into practice."—N. Y. Tribune.

ENGLISH WAYFARING LIFE IN THE MIDDLE AGES (Fourteenth Century).

By J. J. JUSSELAND. Translated from the French by Lucy Toulmin Smith. New and cheaper edition. 8vo, pp. 451, fully illustrated, $3.50.

"We can heartily recommend this book as one of the pleasantest and most carefully executed pictures of a side of English mediæval life that we have met with for a long time."—Saturday Review.

THE INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS OF THE NATION; Consumption Limited, Production Unlimited. By EDWARD ATKINSON, author of "The Distribution of Products," etc. 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

"The problems presented are treated with skill and force, and will interest even those who do not agree with the conclusions reached by the author."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

AMERICAN FARMS, Their Condition and Future. By J. R. ELLIOTT. (No. LXII. in the Questions of the Day Series.) 8vo, cloth, $1.25.
